

Crawling Robot

Inspired by marine worms, this robot can crawl by moving its body segments from side-to-side and using the paddles. It has been built to navigate tricky coastal terrain without damaging the environment.